

LOCAL YOUTH HOME FROM CCC CAMP, BACK SUNDAY

Willie Berzinski, a former newsboy on one of this newspaper's city routes, is enjoying a few days visit with his home folk here. He has spent the past year in Company 368 of the Civilian Conservation Corps and has been located at Tea Springs camp, near Logantown. The youth has but one more month to stay in camp and regrets the fact that he cannot sign up to stay longer. Clean of limb, health, ruddy and strong he is an example of real American youth and is typical of those who have been taken care of in this manner by the government.

Willie was accompanied home by two of his newly made friends, John Grayewski and Joseph Duke, of Shamokin. Among the others on leave with these youths are Mike Slimon and John Herzock of Washington and Joseph Ballog of Monongahela. They leave tomorrow for camp.
